Solutions to assignments must be submitted on the due date during class.
4. Your assignment must be typed.
5. Your assignment MUST be stapled or bound to be accepted.
6. If you submit an assignment all \textit{incomplete}, it will not be accepted.
7. All assignments must be neat and legible. Credit will not be given to assignments which are untidy.
8. You are expected to complete all of the homework assignments.
9. You must show all work and explain how you obtained your answer. When you are unable to solve a problem, discuss your approach and explain why you were stuck. Do not simply have the answer in your solution. All homework solutions will either be graded or zero and be recorded.

\section*{For credit:}

1. To be accepted, each assignment MUST have a cover page.
2. Your assignment MUST be stapled or bound to be accepted.
3. Date of the assignment (e.g., September 12, 2001)
   - Your name
   - Your email
   - Course, Assignment type and number (e.g., CS 623 Homework)

Disclaimer: The following information displayed the following information.

\section*{Carefully Read the following rules for assignments:}

10. You are expected to complete all of the homework assignments.
8. You are expected to complete all of the homework assignments.
7. All assignments must be neat and legible. Credit will not be given to assignments which are untidy.
6. If you submit an assignment all \textit{incomplete}, it will not be accepted.
5. Late assignments will not be accepted during the term.
4. You may submit your assignment up to your professor. If you miss the first 10 minutes of class, you are unable to attend class.

\section*{Guidelines for All Assignments}

Spring 2002